As one of the top 10 highest-grossing touring comedians of the past two decades, Carrington continues to perform in front of sold-out crowds around the world. The Platinum-recording artist has recorded eight major record label comedy albums, as well as three albums on his own record label Laughter's Good Records. Carrington gained prominence in 1998 with his debut major label comedy album Hangin' With Rodney, which achieved RIAA Gold certification. He has continued to achieve success with additional Top 10 comedy albums including Gold-certified Morning Wood and the Platinum-certified Greatest Hits double-album. Carrington's 2019 album Get Em Out hit No. 1 on iTunes, and his 2017 album Here Comes the Truth climbed to No. 3 on the comedy charts, accruing tens of millions of streams on Spotify and resulted in a Netflix special.

In addition to Carrington's Netflix special "Here Comes the Truth," he proved his skills as an actor and writer in his very own sitcom, "Rodney," which ran for two seasons on ABC as well as co-wrote and co-starred with Toby Keith in the feature film, "Beer for My Horses," which won the Tex Ritter Award from the ACM. Carrington also appeared on several other TV shows and award shows from the American Country Awards to hosting the "American Country New Year's Eve" live show on FOX. Additionally, Carrington won "Supporting Character of the Year" from the CMT Music Video Awards for his appearance on the Trace Adkins' music video "I Got My Game On." Carrington also added author to his list of accomplishments with the release of "Rodney Carrington, Coming Clean," published by Hatchette Books.
