Welcoming diners to the new culinary experience were Josh Simon, Vice President of Consumer Products at Netflix, and James McBride, Vice President of Food & Beverage for MGM

Simon remarked, "NETFLIX BITES is a new way to experience fan-favorite movies and shows - when our fans find a show they like, they don't just want to love it - they want to live it. There's no city in the world that knows best how to immerse fans in over-the-top worlds like Las Vegas. MGM, known for their top-notch hospitality and entertainment, is the ideal creative partner delivering fun, original storytelling through memorable food and drink experiences."

McBride added, "I'm excited to bring the NETFLIX BITES experience to MGM Grand, where we're merging on-screen moments with real-life, immersive entertainment. From a Bridgerton-inspired tea service to the challenge of Red Bite, Green Bite, every dish is designed to transport guests to their favorite Netflix stories. This is more than just a meal, it's an experience you won't want to miss."

The menu delivers something for everyone, from hearty sandwiches and juicy burgers to fresh fish, crisp salads, irresistible sides, and decadent desserts—plus plenty more to satisfy any craving, anytime. With creative twists on classic favorites, the fan-favorite shows and movies that have shaped these bold flavors include: Army of the Dead, BEEF, Beverly Hills Cop: Axel F, Big Mouth, Bird Box, Emily in Paris, Ginny & Georgia, Glass Onion: A Knives Out Mystery, GLOW, Inventing Anna, Is It Cake?, Matilda: The Musical, ONE PIECE, Orange Is the New Black, Queen Charlotte: A Bridgerton Story, Queer Eye, School of Chocolate, Selling Sunset, Sex Education, Street Food, Sugar Rush, The Gentlemen, To All The Boys I've Loved Before, Wednesday, and WWE RAW as well as culinary creations inspired by Chef's Table and Dinner Time Live with David Chang.
