The tour will bring to life ROSALÍA's fourth full-length body of work, LUX, originally recorded with the London Symphony Orchestra conducted by Daníel Bjarnason. The album features several collaborators including Björk, Carminho, Estrella Morente, Silvia Pérez Cruz, Yahritza, Yves Tumor, and the Escolania de Montserrat i Cor Cambra Palau de la Música Catalana.

Since its release, LUX has delivered the strongest commercial debut of ROSALÍA's career and set new milestones for Spanish-language music on a global scale, breaking multiple all-time records across major markets. The album opened at No. 1 on Spotify's Global Top Albums Chart – marking the artist's second global chart-topping debut and achieved the biggest streaming debut ever for a female Spanish-language artist on the platform.

LUX also saw historic results in Spain, record-setting performances in France and the United Kingdom, multiple No. 1 debuts across Europe, her highest-ever placement in the United States, and impressive momentum across Latin America, ROSALÍA's new album reaffirms her position as one of the most influential and boundary-breaking artists in music today.

Both critically and commercially, LUX represents ROSALÍA's most ambitious and accomplished body of work to date – praised for its visionary blend of classical composition, global pop innovation, and spiritual intimacy.

With MOTOMAMI, ROSALÍA became the first Spanish artist to debut at No. 1 on Spotify's Global Album Chart, achieved the highest Metacritic score of the year, and delivered one of the most celebrated tours of the decade with the sold-out MOTOMAMI WORLD TOUR. Her influence has since expanded globally – from her commanding 2025 Met Gala moment in custom Balmain, to fronting Calvin Klein's Fall 2025 campaign, to serving as a New Balance Global Ambassador, to her acting debut in HBO's Euphoria (2026).

Now, with LUX and the LUX TOUR 2026, ROSALÍA enters her most transformative artistic chapter yet.
