OCTANE is an immersive, cinematic body of work rooted in Don Toliver's signature melodic, experimental trap-R&B culminating into big moments on tracks like"Body" which has already reached Spotify and Apple Music's Top 5. Executive-produced by Toliver, with production from longtime collaborator Derek "206DEREK" Anderson, the album captures his creative energy in real time and marks a personal milestone, with Toliver producing three tracks himself: "ATM," "Rendezvous," and "Call Back."

Alongside the tour announcement, Toliver continues to expand the world of*OCTANE* with the release of the official music video for "Rendezvous" featuring Yeat. Directed by ADM and produced by Cole Bennett, the video underscores the album's momentum, spotlighting Toliver and Yeat's chemistry through themes of speed, late-night escapism, and a diamond-driven motif.

The OCTANE visual rollout also includes the "Excavator" music video, directed by Shadrinsky and filmed at the historic Mount Wilson Observatory, as well as Live From OCTANE Mountain, a multi-hour live-streamed listening experience filmed at Mount Wilson that aired January 29, following an earlier in-person event at the Porsche Experience Center Los Angeles.

Recorded across Toliver's European tour and sessions in Carmel-by-the-Sea, Los Angeles, and Mount Wilson,OCTANE draws inspiration from his lifelong love of cars and rally racing culture, with themes of motion, independence, and velocity driving both the album and its visuals.

The release builds on a historic run for Toliver, who has delivered certified platinum singles "No Pole" and "Private Landing" featuring Justin Bieber, along with multi-platinum hits including "No Idea," "After Party," "Lemonade," and "Bandit." His previous album, HARDSTONE PSYCHO (2024), earned his first No. 1 on the Billboard Top R&B/Hip-Hop Albums chart.

With OCTANE and its upcoming arena tour, Don Toliver continues to cement his place as one of modern Hip-Hop and R&B's most forward-thinking artists.
