The Body High tour will serve as a culmination of all that FKA twigs has represented to culture over the last decade. These once-in-a-lifetime performances will highlight the iconoclast's exceptional skills in martial arts, opera, visual arts, voguing, pole dancing and her classically trained background in dance, the latter of which earned her a debut solo as a dancer and guest honoree with the Martha Graham Dance Company in 2024. Launching March 14, the Body High tour exemplifies FKA twigs' expert worldbuilding with immersive performances that will peel back the layers to reveal the core ethos of "EUSEXUA" in real time.

The tour will see twigs take the music of her albums "EUSEXUA" and "EUSEXUA Afterglow," along with the rest of her lauded discography across North America, the United Kingdom and Europe. Initially conceived as a deluxe album for "EUSEXUA," "Afterglow" defied all expectations and evolved into a full-fledged body of work. "Afterglow" is steeped in the reverence of techno, but the beats now are fractured, derelict and most importantly, playful. It is the culmination of all the skills that FKA twigs has developed across her acclaimed catalog — the adoration of the dancefloor evident across "EUSEXUA," the playful hooks of "CAPRISONGS," the vulnerability of "MAGDALENE," the sensuality of "LP1," and the waviness of her earliest EPs. Upon the album's release last November, twigs delivered not only her second groundbreaking album of the year but also an album that tapped into a whole new fan base within the rave and club culture scenes.
