PROMOTING RESPONSIBLE PLAY DURING PROBLEM GAMBLING AWARENESS MONTH

March marks Problem Gambling Awareness Month, a time to promote responsible play, address common lottery misconceptions and support informed gaming experiences for all guests. At MGM National Harbor, responsible gaming is a core part of the guest experience, reinforced through ongoing employee training and education. Volunteers from the Maryland Center of Excellence on Problem Gambling visit periodically to educate staff on key initiatives, while employees are encouraged to remain aware of potential warning signs and guide guests to available resources when appropriate.

The GameSense Advisor program further strengthens this commitment by preparing employees to engage in informed, supportive conversations. With more than 2,000 trained GameSense Advisors across MGM Resorts, including several property presidents, guests have access to knowledgeable and approachable resources throughout their visit. MGM Resorts also prioritizes continuous improvement by evaluating responsible gaming programs and gathering guest feedback, using a data-driven approach to refine and enhance initiatives over time.
