

Emo Orchestra with The Spill Canvas bring an evening of emo to Beau Rivage on Oct. 31

BILOXI, Miss. (April 13, 2026)—Emo Orchestra, known for transforming alternative hits into cinematic arrangements using a full, live orchestra, will present a unique show with The Spill Canvas at Beau Rivage Theatre on Oct. 31.

Due to unforeseen circumstances, Emo Orchestra has been rescheduled. The new date is October 31, 2026 at 7:30 PM. Tickets are still valid for the rescheduled date. Ticketholders who may not be able to make the new date have an option for a refund or keep tickets that will be honored for the new date.

Anyone who hasn't chosen a refund by June 15, 2026, will have valid tickets for the rescheduled date in October.

The show merges nostalgia, emotional storytelling and orchestral grandeur with a mix of fan-favorite songs alongside reimagined classics from across the emo genre.

"A 13-piece orchestra adds a whole new element to the concert experience," said Ben Mensch, creator and producer of the Emo Orchestra show, "it will be led by British conductor and composer Evan Rogers."

"Fans will hear songs such as 'The Middle' by Jimmy Eat World, 'I'm Not Okay' by My Chemical Romance, and 'Thanks for the Memories' by Fall Out Boy, and more in a way they never have before," said Mensch. "The Spill Canvas brings a raw emotional honesty that pairs perfectly with the scale and beauty of the orchestral arrangements. This tour is shaping up to be our most immersive and dynamic one yet."

Beau Rivage Theatre doors open at 7 p.m., showtime is at 8 p.m. Tickets are $30, $40, $50 and $60 plus tax and service charge, and may be purchased at Beau Rivage Shows & Concerts or by calling 888.566.7469.
