LAS VEGAS (August 12, 2026) – Today, GRAMMY® Award-winning artist Steve Lacy announced the Oh yeah? Tour across North America in support of his third studio album, Oh yeah?, which was released July 17 via RCA Records. Promoted by Live Nation, the 27-city tour will make a Las Vegas stop at The Chelsea at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas Friday, Nov. 13, 2026 at 8 p.m.

Tickets will be available starting Friday, Aug. 14 at 10 a.m. PT at ticketmaster.com, cosmopolitanlasvegas.com or by calling 800.745.3000.

The Oh yeah? Tour marks Lacy’s first run of headline shows since his 2022 sold-out Give You The World Tour across North America.

Lacy’s first album in four years, Oh yeah? came highly anticipated. Self-produced, the 10-track album features collaborations with SZA, Erykah Badu, and Cecile Believe. It’s also paired with carefully engineered visuals, like the “doom” music video, which seamlessly pairs with the album’s themes. Oh yeah? has allowed Steve to further design an aural world that is singularly him. That “him” has taken Lacy, who released his first EP almost 10 years ago, to the highest of highs: at only 28, he has two songs in the Spotify Billions Club, as well as two GRAMMY Awards. He has stood alongside his musical peers like Kendrick Lamar and Solange, sells out shows across the globe, and is universally known as a style maverick whose eye for design grows bolder every day.
