This tour is especially significant, bringing together some of the greatest names in Sinaloan music and undoubtedly becoming one of the most anticipated live experiences for Mexican and Latino audiences across the United States.

The tour promises to be a celebration of Regional Mexican music, combining the greatest hits that have defined each artist’s career. Audiences can expect a high-energy production filled with audience interaction and the unique signature that characterizes each of their performances.

“El Chou de Chuy Lizárraga” and “Chuy Lizárraga y Julio Preciado” represent a new opportunity for these artists to reconnect with their fans and continue bringing their music to stages across the country, while carrying on careers distinguished by their strong connection with audiences and the enduring impact of their performances within Regional Mexican music.

About Chuy Lizárraga
Originally from Mazatlán, Sinaloa, Mexico, with more than 32 years of professional experience and 22 years as a solo artist on the music scene, Chuy Lizárraga is one of the most renowned performers in regional Mexican music. He has built a career defined by his powerful voice, charismatic stage presence, and a musical style that keeps the roots of Sinaloan music alive, winning over generations of fans in both Mexico and the United States.

About Julio Preciado
Julio Preciado, born in Mazatlán, Sinaloa – the cradle of “la banda Sinaloense” – is one of the most iconic voices in Regional Mexican music. He rose to fame in the early 1990s as vocalist for La Original Banda El Limón and later as the lead singer of Banda El Recodo, where he helped propel the group to international success with a series of landmark albums.

About Luis Ángel “El Flaco”
Originally from the cradle of talent, Mazatlán, Sinaloa, his commanding vocal presence was a cornerstone of Banda Los Recoditos’ international success for more than a decade. However, his true artistic mastery emerged in 2020, when he decided to take center stage as a solo artist. Since then, he has redefined global success with undeniable regional Mexican music anthems such as “Ando bien pedo” and “Y si se quiere ir,” placing himself in a league where only the greatest artists manage to transcend.
