FINAL WEEK TO EXPLORE MGM NATIONAL HARBOR'S CONSERVATORY DISPLAY

This is the final week to explore MGM National Harbor's latest conservatory display, featuring iconic landmarks and symbols representing Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C. The whimsical 15,000-square-foot space brings the region to life with vibrant florals and larger-than-life installations, including a 20-foot replica of Annapolis' Thomas Point Shoal Lighthouse, a 30-foot replica of Virginia's Cape Henry Lighthouse and a scaled 40-foot Washington Monument. Oversized state symbols, including Maryland's blue crab, black-eyed Susans and Virginia's cardinal, add to the colorful display.

There current the display is free and open to the public 24/7 through November 14. The festive holiday display will make its debut November 20.

MEDIA OPPORTUNITY: MGM NATIONAL HARBOR HONORS EMPLOYEE VETERANS WITH PINNING CELEBRATION

MGM National Harbor will honor employee veterans during a special Veterans Day pinning celebration on Wednesday, November 11, at 11 a.m. Each veteran will receive a commemorative pin in recognition of their military service and contributions. The celebration will feature remarks from new President and COO Chris Gumiela and Vice President of Facilities Ernest Lewis, a fellow veteran. During the ceremony, employee veterans will have the opportunity to take photos with Chris Gumiela and Ernest Lewis.

Media interested in covering the event can email mediarelations@mgmnationalharbor.com to RSVP.
